

Welcome from Dave Dadds

Welcome to the first of our Newsletters which will be issued three times a year.

The Newsletter will aim to keep businesses on the estate informed of what is happening with the BID but also any wider issues that could have an impact on you and your employees.

The Willow BID has now been up and running since July 2009 and as you will see in more detail in the articles below, work is progressing in achieving the objectives that were part of the BID Proposal.

CCTV

Since the BID was established, the old CCTV system has been extended and improved. This has been funded from the BID levy, and a £15k grant from the London Development Agency.

There are now 16 cameras in total, and this includes 2 Automatic Number Plate Recognition (ANPR) cameras covering the exit and entrance to the estate.

One of the key areas identified in the survey of the businesses prior to the BID vote was the ongoing issues of crime and fly tipping on the estate. To address this problem, the largest single investment by the BID has been in updating and improving the CCTV system and to continue to work with the police and local council enforcement officers to help address these issues.

The Willow BID Board will continue to strive to improve conditions on the estate and would welcome any suggestions or proposals that could assist us in achieving this.

New monitoring and recording equipment has also been set up in the office in Connect House.

The Police and the environmental enforcement officers regularly ask for CCTV recordings of incidents that happen and we are able to download these onto a disc which can be used as evidence in any prosecutions.

Estate Signage

An ongoing problem for some visitors to the estate has been confusion and lack of direction in identifying their destination on the Willow Estate. This is due to many individual estates and the set up of the addresses.

In an effort to make it easier, Willow BID has agreed with the Council to take over the large sign at the entrance to the estate and install a map dividing the estate into 4/5 areas, with a different colour for each one.

Coloured signs will be put up on buildings and lampposts to show the borders of each area. This should help in identifying where businesses are located.

Willow Lane Bridge Closure

As most of you are aware, this bridge has now been closed since 2004 due to a structural weakness. The Willow Action Group, and now Willow BID, has consistently lobbied to get this bridge repaired and the access road opened. The reason for the delay in getting this matter resolved has been that the ownership has been in dispute between Transport for London and Network Rail. It centres around the fact that the bridge stands on land owned by TfL, but the structure was not transferred over when the line was converted from a railway to the tramline.

Recently, the BID has had meetings with Council Officers from LB Merton, our local Councillor and MP in an effort to get their support in getting this matter resolved.

A legal mediation meeting was held in May between both parties, and a further meeting has been planned to take place with our Member of Parliament, which will also include representatives from LB Merton and Willow BID.
